SPARTAN

Spartan Direct is at the leading edge of space technology – the technology of maximising and organising space. Spartan, with over forty years of experience, has been successfully designing and installing storage systems for companies large and small - nationwide. The space available for storage is of major importance for most companies. Material handling technologies are an integral part of the efficiency and production process.

With fully trained engineers, a first class installation service, comprehensive after-sales support and a wide range of systems, that process can be maximised by offering bespoke systems tailored to your individual requirements.

COIL & SHEET STORAGE

Coil and Sheet storage require specialised systems tailored to your individual requirements. The type of application that you have will determine how your coil or sheet is stored. This could mean that we utilise pallet, cantilever or coil racks depending on the size and weight of the product being stored.

PARTITIONING

Spartan provides stylish and fast solutions to space management. We offer a comprehensive design package, tailored to your individual requirements, helping you to maximise the use of space or segregate your existing work areas.

Our service ranges from standard partitioning, receptions and washrooms through to full office refurbishment encompassing flooring, decoration, suspended ceilings, lighting and air conditioning.

RACKING MESH SCREENS

This racking safety system represents a simple preventative measure, that has contributed in avoiding many accidents. The wire mesh is mounted within a steel frame and these panels are then joined to the racking uprights using sturdy brackets.

Whether it is a general or executive finish you require, Spartan will provide the ideal solution.

MEZZANINE FLOORS

Mezzanine floors have flourished in the last ten years with economic pressure on industry to optimise space available. Mezzanine floors are excellent for extending office space and for the small component industry enabling hand picking of products.

They are a sensible option and can often have a payback to a company that can be measured in a matter of months rather than years. This valuable asset to your company can be used for so many uses from supplying extra office areas, to production, manufacturing or creating extra space for storage and materials handling. Being a modular design means that they can be added to, changed or if necessary relocated as your company's needs change.

Opportunities for using the full height of modern industrial units can be optimised with the use of mezzanine structures. Huge volumes of storage can be achieved in this way with each installation carefully designed and laid out, where painted hand rails, floor covering, lighting and accessibility are all part of the planning and installation procedure.

Office accommodation built up from modular systems complete with finished decor and fittings can be integrated into a mezzanine floor system.

ACCESSORIES

A wide variety of accessories are available from Spartan, whether these are for reasons of safety or product identification through labelling. The following are some of the more commonly requested items by our customers.

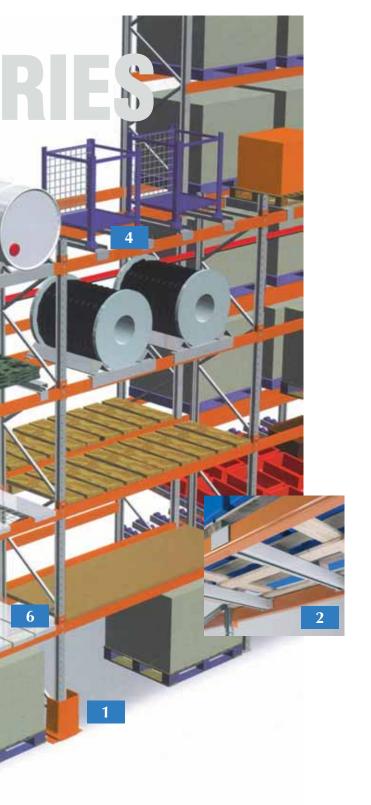

- Column and Rack Guards Help protect base of upright from accidental collision.
- Pallet Support Bars Help to support abnormal or undersize pallets within the racking system.
- Fork Spacers Allows flat, unpalletised loads, such as sheet, to be stored within the racking system.
- Skid Channels Allows the storage of stillages within the racking system
- 5 Anti-collapse Mesh Helps prevent items falling off pallets out of the back of the rack. Often used where a walkway is located near stored pallets
- Shelf Panels Are available in a variety of steel and timber options to suit the application.
- Signs and Labelling Fitted on the end of rows, individual bays or shelf locations, they allow easy product and location identification.

PROTECTION

BARRIER PROTECTION

Designed to suit your needs, our robust and resilient barriers help protect the racking, walls and other equipment from accidental damage. Alternatively you can define and segregate work areas or safeguard pedestrians. We offer standard or bespoke systems in any length, finished in 'high visibility' orange paint.
